Description

In an increasingly complex health care world characterized by the need to meet both international and national quality standards, the Fertilization Center is being asked to implement a Quality System internally.

ICMED S.r.l. an international company that deals with training and consulting in IVF centers, thanks to the established and international experience of Dr. Vincenzo Iaconianni, an expert in this field, has designed a training course aimed at illustrating the importance of Quality Management in healthcare.

Training Objective

National and international regulations require the medically assisted procreation center to comply with several documentary and procedural requirements.

This training aims to provide the organizational knowledge needed to implement the quality system in a PMA Center.

How the Educational Training is structured

The topics covered in the training are as follows:

- Why quality in an IVF center
- The quality requirements of the regulations in PMA.
- The basics of a quality system in a PMA center
- The qualification path of the quality manager

Lecturers

Vincenzo Iaconianni

Earned a bachelor's degree in business and economics, with a thesis on the design of the EMEA's centralized procedure for biotechnology products, and is active in training and consulting in health care, specializing in quality system design and implementation at specialized health care facilities. He became the leading expert in the field of international accreditation in fertilization centers, tissue institutes, and stem cell transplantation programs.

He follows the most important centers internationally, in Italy, Switzerland, South Africa and Spain. Designs and delivers training interventions dedicated to personnel working in
